Pivotal Training – Ollie Frith (Trainer)

- All staff (including support staff) should be involved in the Whoosh training.
- It is designed to change hearts and minds.
- Our high-energy, interactive INSET is designed to win over the most battle-hardened teachers and those entrenched in the 'them and us' culture as well as challenging experienced staff and further developing those who have outstanding relationships with learners.
- Your Pivotal trainer will introduce your staff to the first four of the Five Pillars of Pivotal Practice, giving clear practical examples of how to shift culture in your classroom and across the site.
- There will be a clear focus how to managing adult behaviour and develop emotional control to influence the behaviour of learners.
- At the end of the training, all staff will pledge to change one aspect of behaviour over then next 30 days. This collective pledge gets staff to stand side by side, to change practice together as a team.

The Five Pillars of Pivotal Practice:

1. Consistent, calm adult behaviour
2. First attention to best conduct
3. Relentless routines
4. Scripted interventions
5. Restorative conversations
