

Measuring the impact of SEMH interventions in school - one day course led by Lisa Sabotig, Education Psychologist.

Tuesday February 12th 2019

9.30 - 16.00

Venue: Langley Secondary School.

Cost £90 to include lunch.

Please contact Joyce Rothschild by January 31st if you would like a place:

joyce.rothschild@solgrid365.org.uk

What can you learn during the session?

- Finding out about the range of resources for assessing need and planning for interventions
- Interventions in place in other schools and their success
- Whole school good practice model – snapshot, identification + intervention , evaluation
- Collecting resources available to use in collating and evaluating info around
- Use of case studies and the associated resources
- How to track and measure progress of SEMH & growing relevance in the curriculum
- How to select and target intervention
- Selecting intervention & selecting appropriate measures for intervention
- The importance of accurate identification
- When/how you should use the variety of assessment tools available
- The inter-relationship between behaviour, context, skills and knowledge and attitude