

Wednesday 25 September 2019

Further details to be released soon

SOLIHULL

Tackling Prejudice and Discrimination in the Digital Age: What Can Schools Do?

A ground-breaking event with bespoke options for Primary & Secondary School teachers involving Holocaust survivors, educators, key note speakers and organisations tackling hate crime. Teachers will be offered practical advice and support on how to empower their students in rejecting all forms of religious, race, gender and LGBT discrimination.

Featuring:

- A performance of And Then They Came For Me, the stunning multimedia play based on the life of Holocaust survivor Eva Schloss, and The Promise, an exhibition about the creative talents of her brother, Heinz.
- Eva Schloss MBE, step-sister on Anne Frank, will be joined by fellow Auschwitz survivor, Mindu Hornick, Ahmad Nawaz, Professor Sara Jones of Birmingham University and other keynote speakers Remembering Srebrenica, Anne Frank Trust UK, The Holocaust Education Trust and more.