

John Butters

John looks after Midlands partnerships at Too Good To Go. Having joined the surplus food app last year, John is passionate about showing independent food businesses why they should get on board to fight food waste together.