

Would you like to have more knowledge and confidence to manage challenging behaviours in children you work with?

Register today for our 'Behaviours that Challenge' short course, available free from your local authority as part of the Comic Relief Early Years Inclusion Programme.

Join the thousands of learners who have enhanced their support for children with SEND and their families through the Dingley's Promise Training programme.

This course is popular with newly qualified practitioners as well as those seeking further professional development. It can be completed online in your own time and includes a balance of theory and practical application, designed to enable you to easily implement the learning in your setting. The course will take approximately 5 hours in total to complete.

Join Dingley's Promise in transforming inclusive practice in the early years, to give every child the best start.

Aims

- To provide learners with strategies to fully support children with SEND within their setting.
- To increase knowledge of child responses and how these can be predicted and managed effectively.
- To increase practitioner/child trust and develop positive relationships.
- To reduce the disruption of challenging behaviours for the wider cohort of children.
- To support your setting's wider development of inclusive practice.

You will look at:

- The causes of behaviour and how to use models such as ABC and STAR to gain a greater understanding of behavioural triggers.
- How to adapt the environment to be more conducive to positive behaviours.
- Understanding the impact of family systems and values on behavioural patterns.
- Helping families to understand behaviours, why they are occurring and how they can positively work on reducing them.

"This course should be compulsory for all early years settings . I have so many new ideas which I am using in my setting."
