Course details

This module is part of the Autism Education Trust (AET) Professional Development Programme for staff in early years settings. These modules and materials have been created to help early years staff and practitioners to understand the distinctive strengths and learning needs of autistic children. They provide pointers to teaching approaches, methods, and resources to use in early years settings.

What will you learn?

This one-day course allows you to gain practical knowledge and discover hands-on tools and techniques to support autistic children in your setting.

Aims

To support practitioners to:

- develop knowledge and understanding of good autism practice (GAP)
- understand the importance of working with others to support the child
- create and deliver a plan to ensure progress
- extend their understanding of how they may support a young autistic child to develop and progress
- further reflect on reasonable adjustments that can be made to improve their practice in working with autistic children

Outcomes

After completing this session, practitioners will:

- understand how autism can impact on the learning and wellbeing of an autistic child
- understand the importance of involving the "Team around the Child" to support the child's development
- consider how to remove barriers to wellbeing, participation, and learning for autistic children

Who is this training for?

This is a module for practitioners who work directly with autistic children in early years settings and will provide guidance on processes and tools that can help practitioners to implement good autism practice.

All delegates will receive a CPD certificate from AET and a Practical Resource Pack to use in setting immediately following the session.
