Early Years Funding

Steve Fenton

Early Years Funding Update

Since November meeting:

- Funding consultation 18 November to 5 December.
- Proposals widely supported – 70% to 80% 20% undecided most questions
- School Forum approved proposals 7 December 2016
- Info to settings Feb/March based on that

EY Funding update (2)

Cabinet Member ratified funding 16 March 2017:

In respect of the construction of a new Early Years Funding Formula and hourly rates for two year olds and three / four year olds he agreed the recommendations from the School Forum meeting on 7 December 2016 and approved the following:

EY Funding (3)

- Set a contingency fund of £100,000 from 1 April 2017.
- Set a Special Educational Needs (SEN) Inclusion Fund at £250,000.
- Approved a supplement in respect of deprivation only equivalent broadly to the value of that in 2016-17
- To change the measure from Income Deprivation Affecting Children Index (IDACI) to the per pupil measure used for the Early Years Pupil Premium (EYPP), at £0.63 per hour
- A PVI hourly rate of £3.90 from 1 April 2017
- A school hourly rate of £3.80 from 1 April 2017, rising to the PVI rate in 2018-19 , or as government funding permits.
- Increase the two year old hourly rate from £5.00 per hour to £5.24 per hour from 1 April 2017 in line with the increase in grant.
- Confirmation of Disability Access Fund which is £615 per eligible child.

2018-19

Unless the government do something unexpected:

- The same funding rates for 2018-19
- Single rate – all settings at £3.90 core rate
- We don't expect the outcomes of the National Funding Formula to impact on early years
- Stability to support planning and investment

Provider Survey

- Thank you for your responses (173 replies!)
- 55% have told us you will be offering the 30 hours, with the majority of the rest undecided
- Main issues were around eligibility, funding, processes, capacity and demand
- FAQs in response to the survey have been distributed by FIS last week
- FIS team are now in the process of signing up childcare providers and Schools so you will be contacted in due course

Also 1 – what might the Extended Free Entitlement (EFE) mean for me?

- Partnership options – you could, for example:
 - Work with a group of children through a network or agency if there is one in your area; to work in partnership with or in the office.
 - Work in partnership with a school and/or PVI provider to split the childcare between you with the child with a learning difficulty, premiums and third of the other provider.
 - Working with a group of other providers might also be helpful in this situation because you could therefore accommodate a larger group of children.
 - Work in partnership with a school and/or PVI provider to split the childcare between you, with you defining 50% of the week from home and 50% from the other provider/s/ premises.

You might want to read the case studies: Blended model 4: partnership with childminders and the Blended model 5: partnership working – inclusion for children with SEND in the Delivery Models section of the book. Childminders could have a particularly positive role in delivering the extended fee entitlement for children with SEND who cannot spend the whole day or week in a school setting.

Forecast Demand for Extended Offer of 30 hours

Provider Models

- Consider what is on offer in your area – look for gaps in the market.
- If you are undecided what information do you need to help you decided?
- What are your options?
 - Do nothing
 - Increase capacity by increasing places
 - Extend your day or weeks
 - Offer places differently
 - Work collaboratively with partners

Summary

- DfE eligibility estimate for 30 hour extended offer is 1500 children
- Current identified supply of places indicated by the provider survey is 789 places (55%).
- Early indications are that this will become a demand led market, where parents will choose their childcare based on access to their free entitlement
- What are your options to offer 30 hours what model could work for you.

DfE Learning from early implementers

Early Implementation – What have we learnt so far?

- In York, around 80% of (estimated) eligible children have already been able to access a 30 hours place.
- 68% of parents accessing the full 30 hours (47% in York)
- Anecdotal feedback suggests that 30 hours is helping some providers with increasing occupancy rates, with hours now being taken during 'hard to fill' days and times of the week.
- Majority of parents prefer to access one provider for their child. However, they are also likely to access the entitlement over two providers where strong links have been developed.
- Providers are starting to amend their models to better accommodate the needs of working parents:
 - Partnership working
 - Saturday provision
 - Operating over more weeks of the year

We are already hearing some of the benefits parents are receiving from accessing an extended entitlement place. With most families seeing huge impacts on their budgets, family life balance and children's development. It's also supported parents back into work or to work more hours:

"I've been able to go back to work, and go back into back to my nursing, which I thought I'd never be able to go back into".

"The extra childcare is a great help, the extra hours are providing me with the opportunity to return to work from maternity leave and only worry about the costs for one child which makes a huge difference to our finances and family as a whole."

"Getting this free childcare makes it so much easier for me - it puts money back in your pocket and that little extra really helps."

"It also takes the pressure off at work because I know I won't be charged extra for being late to the childminder now that I have these extra hours – there is much more flexibility."
